A RESUME OF THE IMPORTANT EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

Things of a Newsworthy Nature Rolled Down to Suit the Convenience of the Hasty Reader—Kentucky Down to Date.

—Henry Hutshel, of Lexington, was killed in a freight wreck on the Kentucky Central, near Milldale.

WANTED—A woman to cook, wash and iron for a small family. Apply at this office. Light service and best wages.

—Mrs. Lizzie Walcutt, of Frankfort, will be a candidate for state librarian when the newly elected legislature convenes.

Why suffer with that headache, when you can secure a box of Mergeline at this office for 50 cents and get immediate relief.

—Dr. E. E. Underwood, a colored physician of Frankfort, will be an applicant for the position of penitentiary physician at that place.

—Will H. Lyons, Republican representative-elect from Campbell county, has announced himself a candidate for speaker of the house.

—Wood Dunlap, Republican candidate for the legislature from Lexington, will contest the election of Messrs. Kaufman, the Democratic candidate elect.

—Hon. John W. Yerkes, of Danville, has peremptorily declined to be a candidate for U. S. senator, but for all that the woods are full of senators in embryo.

—George Dullea, the newly elected Republican judge of the court of appeals from the Louisville district, will take his seat as soon as he receives his certificate.

—Chas. Werner, late Republican candidate for the legislature from the city of Owensboro, has filed a protest against the counting of the vote in several precincts.

—Judge George Denny, of Lexington, has announced himself a candidate for the U. S. senate, provided the Republicans do the electing, which now seems quite probable.

We will take good word corn on all subscriptions due this office, where parties have not the money, and allow 33 cents per bushel. The corn to be delivered at this office.

—Alex. Rice, the negro who shot and killed Simon Higgins, near Crab Orchard a month ago, was on Friday found guilty in the Lincoln circuit court, and sentenced to 21 years in the pen.

—In the U. S. court at Louisville Friday, Charles Chilton Moore, the erratic editor of the defunct Blue Grass Blade was found guilty of sending obscene matter through the mails, and sentence deferred until the February term of court.

At Lexington the politicians are guessing who will be the chief of police under the new Democratic mayor.

McElroy, the incumbent, claims he is slated for the place, but is said by others that the place was promised to Bill Jesse, a blacksmith of that city.

Sore Throat. Any ordinary case may be cured in one night by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm as directed with each bottle. This medicine is also famous for its cures of rheumatism, lame back and deep-seated and muscular pains. For sale by John M. Rose.

—Lewis L. Walker, son of Judge Walker, recently elected as the Democratic representative from Garrard county, has renounced his allegiance to the Democratic party, and will henceforth parade with the Republicans. He has been in the law office of W. O. Bradley for some time, and that gentleman hypnotized him.

Our Last Call.
If you owe us a note or account and the same is not paid by November 15th, 1895, suit will be brought on the same without respect of persons. This means every man, woman and child who owe us. We are determined to settle up the business of Pieratt & Co., so save cost by calling and paying up.

Respectfully,
H. F. PIERATT & Co.
P. S. Could you also pay what you owe me? I need it to pay what I owe.

Respectfully,
H. F. PIERATT.

I wish to call the attention of my friends to my fall and winter stock of caps and dress goods, and gloves, hosiery, caps, Tan, oxfords, sailors in all styles, walking hats, and in fact hats to go up all the way.

Slays For Two Murderers.
The execution of George Green, convicted of murder, and of Henry Mitchell Smith, convicted of rape, will be stayed for a short while. The execution was to have taken place at Lexington, Ky., the 22nd inst., but appeals have been granted in both cases and the papers were forwarded to the supreme court Monday.

A Political Protest.

LANE, KY., Nov. 9, 1895.

EDITOR HERALD: As I have heard nothing from your worthy correspondent, Shanghai, from Lane for some time, I thought I would give you a few items.

Since the election has past, gathering corn is the order of the day among the farmers, and the Republican politicians are busy selecting the various places of trust and honor they will find under Governor Bradley. While those of this calibre seem to be travelling about to inform their fellows that there will be a general advance in the price of lumber and everything else that would make Republicans happy. While the Republicans are full to the brim with joy, the mugwumps say "Just as I expected."

The People's Party men say that they expected nothing and got nothing. The poor Democrats are all looking for a vacant place to be politically buried for the next four years, then to be resurrected and led to victory by a clean, decent Democracy that will neither be led by cliques of district, county or state rings.

On our way to Tarsus last Tuesday we were smote with blindness, but since the scales have fallen from our eyes, and we see plainly now just what was the great malady, and this is the way the disease came on the Democratic party. A few weeks past it was necessary to re-organize the Democracy of our county by selecting new district committeemen in the various districts in the county. But some one who was desirous of having a district committeeman in our district to please his own fancy, had matters so arranged for five or six men to assemble at the voting place in the 5th (Holly) precinct and select a man that publically made a vow last fall that he would never vote the Democratic ticket again as long as he lived; yet he was the man to serve the purpose of the men that had him selected. The district never had any notice of any such election, which was held at one o'clock, and we received the notice in THE HERALD at three o'clock afterwards on the same day, and I will say for myself, and I am authorized to say for more than fifty Democrats, that they will not abide by anything that may be done by any such committeeman. The Democrats of this district have no extra to grind, and all they want is a true, clean man. Give us a clean committeeman, a clean man to vote for, and we stand by them and victory is ours. Give us cliques and rings to vote for, and defeat will be in store for us. While we have no hard things to say about any person, we ask the Democracy of Wolfe county to give us candidates for office that can show up clean hands, and we will stand by them; but remember the 5th voting precinct will only support such men, it matters not where they live or what their names are.

Incubable.
We know that it sounds quackish to talk about the Electropoise curing incurable diseases, but bear in mind the fact that it is the old treatment that has pronounced the case incurable. We do not make the claim that we can cure all incurable diseases, but we do maintain with all earnestness that a case pronounced incurable by your family physician is a splendid field for the operation of the Electropoise. It may be just the treatment necessary, and is quite likely to be so. If it fails, this is no argument against the "Poise," but in such a case, the fact of the physician's statement is proven to be true. But many of the patients who have been given up by their physician who has again received life through treatment of the Electropoise.

A Remarkable Faith Doctor.
Sol Adams, who lives near Flat Rock, on the state road between here and Pomroy, has the reputation of curing without medicine any pain caused by rheumatism, neuralgia or toothache, and the cure is said to be permanent. Some fifty persons who have recently called upon him are said to be willing to make affidavit that they have never suffered a particle of pain after the first night succeeding his treatment. How he treats them is his own secret, but the most remarkable part about it is that he does not charge a cent for the cure, nor will he accept anything as a gift. Henry Pieratt, who has tried everything else for rheumatism, and without relief, will this week give Mr. Adams a call, and hopes thereby to regain his health.

Henry Pieratt, who has tried everything else for rheumatism, and without relief, will this week give Mr. Adams a call, and hopes thereby to regain his health.

Incubable.
We know that it sounds quackish to talk about the Electropoise curing incurable diseases, but bear in mind the fact that it is the old treatment that has pronounced the case incurable. We do not make the claim that we can cure all incurable diseases, but we do maintain with all earnestness that a case pronounced incurable by your family physician is a splendid field for the operation of the Electropoise. It may be just the treatment necessary, and is quite likely to be so. If it fails, this is no argument against the "Poise," but in such a case, the fact of the physician's statement is proven to be true. But many of the patients who have been given up by their physician who has again received life through treatment of the Electropoise.

A Remarkable Faith Doctor.
Sol Adams, who lives near Flat Rock, on the state road between here and Pomroy, has the reputation of curing without medicine any pain caused by rheumatism, neuralgia or toothache, and the cure is said to be permanent. Some fifty persons who have recently called upon him are said to be willing to make affidavit that they have never suffered a particle of pain after the first night succeeding his treatment. How he treats them is his own secret, but the most remarkable part about it is that he does not charge a cent for the cure, nor will he accept anything as a gift. Slaughter is locked up in the "hog cage," and aims to stay till the winter comes, but he don't look like he will ever recover.

Mr. Editor: Will you allow me respectfully to correct the mistake made in THE HERALD last week. When you said that Lee City was the only precinct in the county that went Republican, I don't guess you had heard from the Holly precinct, that went twice Republican.

Gilmore Gleanings.
A. N. Hadley has a very sick child. Drs. Taubert and Nickell are attending it.

Died, the 7th inst., the infant child of D. R. Morrison and wife.

Married, on the 9th inst., J. E. Blankenship to Miss Louella Little. This is Miss Little's third marriage, and all of her husbands still living; she has been divorced twice.

The writer, together with Dr. Carroll, C. H. Allen and others, will start in a few days up Salt river. We anticipate a good time hunting and fishing, provided the Rads have left any for us, they having been there for a long time.

Plums for Kentuckians.

Of the fifty-nine appointments under civil service allotted to Kentucky, forty-seven have been made and in the opinion of the civil service commission the other twelve will be made before another appointment. In this respect Kentucky has fared better than her sister states.

Japanese Oil is said to be the most wonderful liniment for external application that scientific chemists have yet been able to compound. Hundreds and thousands testify to this, as it has saved both life and expense. Sold at this office at 50 cents a bottle. Try it, as it is a household necessity and always a friend in need.

Col. Robert Crittenden for Warden.

A Frankfort special to the Courier-Journal says: "It came out here tonight from a reliable source that Col. Robert Crittenden, of this city, will probably be the new warden of the Frankfort penitentiary. The election of the warden is in the hands of the state sinking fund commission, composed of the five principal state officers, and the selection of Col. Crittenden will be mainly due to the influence of Mr. George D. Todd, of Louisville, who was secretary and treasurer of the Republican campaign committee. Col. Crittenden is a prominent Republican and former United States marshal of Kentucky. He is the son of the late Governor and senator John J. Crittenden."

John M. Rose, the druggist, will tell you that no one is better qualified to judge of the merits of an article than the dealer, because he knows his opinion on the experience of all who use it. For this reason he wishes us to publish the remarks of other dealers about an article which he handles. Messrs. C. F. Moore & Co., Newburg, Ore., say: "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than all others put together, and it always gives good satisfaction." Mr. J. F. Allen, Fox, Ore., says: "I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have handled." Mr. W. H. Hitchcock, Columbus, Wash., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy sells well and is highly prized by all who use it."

After the Patronage.

Lexington Republicans are out after the patronage to be dispensed by Col. Bradley and the various state officers recently elected. Maj. R. A. Hancock, a member of the state central committee, will be in line, so it is said, for the superintendency of the Eastern Kentucky lunatic asylum, while Wood Dunlap, who came so near being elected to the legislature from Lexington, is after the insurance commissioner. Thomas L. Walker also has his eye on a soft berth. A. G. Sharpley, adjutant of the Second regiment, Kentucky state guards, has put in an application for the assistant adjutant generalship. He is at present book-keeper in the First national bank, of Lexington.

Mrs. W. B. Meek, who resides at Camptonsville, Cal., says her daughter was for several years troubled at times with severe cramps in the stomach, and would be in such agony that it was necessary to call in a physician. Having read of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, she concluded to try it. She found that it always gave prompt relief. It was seldom necessary to give the second dose. "It has not only saved us lots of worry and time," she says, "but also doctor bills. It is my opinion that every family should have a bottle of this remedy in the house." For sale by John M. Rose.

Prisoners Escape From The Pen.

James Warden, a noted convict from Newport, and Riley Maclin, of Nicholas county, scaled the walls of the Frankfort penitentiary Saturday night and made their escape, but were captured Sunday afternoon. They had obtained partial suits of citizens' clothing and hid themselves in a secluded place a few miles from town. Two Crutcher brothers found them, and, suspecting that they were convicts, took them to Frankfort, and will get the reward of $50 each. Both of the men are serving twenty-one years for murder.

Wanted,
500 bushels of good Wheat. Will pay 75c. per bushel on notes and account, or in merchandise, including $100. (S. P. Kerr brand) wheat to be delivered at my store in Hazel Green.

Stays For Two Murderers.

The execution of George Green, convicted of murder, and of Henry Mitchell Smith, convicted of rape, will be stayed for a short while. The execution was to have taken place at Lexington, Ky., the 29th inst., but appeals have been granted in both cases and the papers were forwarded to the supreme court Monday.

I wish to call the attention of my friends to my fall and winter stock of caps and dress goods, kid gloves, hosiery, coats, trousers, underwear, silks in all styles, walking hats, and in fact hats to go with all.

Mrs. F. N. DAY.

KENTUCKY ITEMIZED.

A RESUME OF THE IMPORTANT EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

Things of a Newsworthy Nature Rolled Down to Suit the Convenience of the Hasty Reader—Kentucky Down to Date.

—Henry Hutseil, of Lexington, was killed in a freight wreck on the Kentucky Central, near Milldale.

WANTED—A woman to cook, wash and iron for a small family. Apply at this office. Light service and best wages.

—Mrs. Lizzie Walcutt, of Frankfort, will be a candidate for state librarian when the newly elect legislature convenes.

Why suffer with that headache, when you can secure a box of Mergalmin at this office for 50 cents and get immediate relief.

—Dr. E. E. Underwood, a colored physician of Frankfort, will be an applicant for the position of penitentiary physician at that place.

—Will H. Lyons, Republican representative-elect from Campbell county, has announced himself a candidate for speaker of the house.

—Wood Dunlap, Republican candidate for the legislature from Lexington, will contest the election of Mose Kaufman, the Democratic candidate elect.

—Hon. John W. Yerkes, of Danville, has peremptorily declined to be a candidate for U. S. senator, but for all that the woods are full of senators in embryo.

—George Dufelle, the newly elected Republican judge of the court of appeals from the Louisville district, will take his seat as soon as he receives his certificate.

—Chas. Werner, late Republican candidate for the legislature from the city of Owensboro, has filed a protest against the counting of the vote in several precincts.

—Judge George Deany, of Lexington, has announced himself a candidate for the U. S. senate, provided the Republicans do the electing, which now seems quite probable.

We will take good sound corn on all subscriptions due this office, where parties have not the money, and allow 33 1/3 cents per bushel. The corn to be delivered at this office.

—Alex. Rice, the negro who shot and killed Simon Higgins, near Crab Orchard a month ago, was on Friday found guilty in the Lincoln circuit court, and sentenced to 21 years in the pen.

—In the U. S. court at Louisville Friday, Charles Chilton Moore, the erratic editor of the defunct Blue Grass Blade was found guilty of sending obscene matter through the mails, and sentence deferred until the February term of court.

—At Lexington the politicians are guessing who will be the chief of police under the new Democratic mayor.

McElroy, the incumbent, claims he is slated for the place, but is said by others that the place was promised to Bill Jesse, a blacksmith of that city.

Sore Throat. Any ordinary case may be cured in one night by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm as directed with each bottle. This medicine is also famous for its cures of rheumatism, lame back and deep-seated and muscular pains. For sale by John M. Rose.

—Lewis L. Walker, son of Judge Walker, recently elected as the Democratic representative from Garrard county, has renounced his allegiance to the Democratic party, and will henceforth parade with the Republicans. He has been in the law office of W. O. Bradley for some time, and that gentleman has hypnotized him.

Our Last Call.

If you owe us a note or account and the same is not paid by November 15th, 1895, suit will be brought on the same without respect of persons. This means every man, woman and child who owe us. We are determined to settle up the business of Pieratt & Co., so save cost by calling and paying up.

Respectfully,
H. F. PIERATT & CO.

F. S. Could you also pay what you owe me? I need it to pay what I owe.

Respectfully,
H. F. PIERATT.

A Political Protest.

LANE, Ky., Nov. 9, 1895.
EDITOR HERALD: As I have heard nothing from your worthy correspondent, Shanghai, from Lane for some time, I thought I would give you a few items.

Since the election has past, gathering corn is the order of the day among the farmers, and the Republican politicians are busy selecting the various places of trust and honor they will find under Governor Bradley. While those of this calibre seem to be traveling about to inform their fellows that there will be a general advance in the price of lumber and everything else that would make Republicans happy. While the Republicans are full to the brim with joy, the mugwumps say "Just as I expected."

The People's Party men say that they expected nothing and got nothing. The poor Democrats are all looking for a vacant place to be politically buried for the next four years, then to be resurrected and led to victory by a clean, decent Democracy that will neither be led by cliques of district, county or state rings.

On our way to Tarsus last Tuesday we were smote with blindness, but since the scales have fallen from our eyes, and we see plainly now just what was the great misdeed, and this is the way the disease came on the Democratic party. A few weeks past it was necessary to re-organize the Democracy of our county by selecting new district committeemen in the various districts in the county. But some one who was desirous of having a district committeeman in our district to please his own fancy, had matters so arranged for five or six men to assemble at the voting place in the 5th (Holly) precinct and select a man that publicly made a vow last fall that he would never vote the Democratic ticket again as long as he lived, yet he was the man to serve the purpose of the men that had him selected. The district never had any notice of any such election, which was held at one o'clock, and we received the notice in THE HERALD at three o'clock afterwards on the same day, and I will say for myself, and I am authorized to say for more than fifty Democrats, that they will not abide by anything that may be done by any such committeeman. The Democrats of this district have no axes to grind, and all they want is a true, clean man. Give us a clean committeeman, a clean man to vote for, and we stand by them and victory is ours. Give us cliques and rings to vote for and defeat still is in store for us. While we have no hard things to say about any person, we ask the Democracy of Wolfe county to give us candidates for office that can show up clean hands, and we will stand by them; but remember the 5th voting precinct will only support such men, it matters not where they live or what their names are.

We know that it sounds quackish to talk about the Electropole curing incurable diseases, but bear in mind the fact that it is the old treatment that has pronounced the case incurable. We do not make the claim that we can cure all incurable diseases, but we do maintain with all earnestness that a case pronounced incurable by your family physician is a splendid field for the operation of the Electropole. # THE HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, : : : : Editor

HAZEL GREEN, KY.

THURSDAY, Nov. 14, 1895.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce CHAS. T. BYRD, of Campton, as a candidate for the office of Circuit Court Clerk for Wolfe county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The Louisville papers announce that Col. R. M. Kelly, editor of the Louisville Commercial, will be a candidate for the United States senate. Anything that THE HERALD may say in behalf of Col. Kelly will doubtless avail but little with a Republican legislature, but all the same we wish to state that we know the man and know him to be a perfect gentleman. Among her best citizens proud old Kentucky could not boast of a more noble son nor one that would reflect greater credit in the halls of congress. He is eminently qualified in every respect as a representative to the national legislature, and we hope the Republican caucus will accord him the nomination when it convenes. Col. Kelly won his title as commanding officer of the Fourth Kentucky mounted infantry, and as soldier and citizen he has always been the same urbane gentleman, and demonstrated his fitness as a leader worthy of any following. As a Republican will most surely be named to succeed Mr. Blackburn, we sincerely hope Bob Kelly may be the man.

John C. Wood, editor of the Mt. Sterling Gazette, defeated G. R. Keller for railroad commissioner by a very large majority. Though his election was conceded from the beginning, by reason of the political complexion of the district and his personal popularity, no one dreamed that he would make such a majority. John will prove himself worthy the confidence thus reposed in him, as he has in every walk of life heretofore, and we hope he may continue for all time to have the confidence of his constituents. There is not a more deserving young man in Kentucky.

Talking about free silver reminds the editor of this paper that he was a free silver man for several months just prior to the election, but his supply running short he no longer advocates that doctrine, and like all the other free silver cranks, now regrets that he ever did. It was too free while it lasted, but we "never miss the water till the well runs dry," nor do we know people until we find them out. Now we want all delinquent subscribers to come in and square up, so we can replenish our stock.

The free-silver cranks to whom the Democratic party owes its defeat must have been highly charged with quicksilver to have so completely knocked the foundation from under her. A free use of the latter commodity has been known to destroy the most substantially constructed dams, levees, etc., and it is but reasonable to suppose that the use of free (quick) silver destroyed the Democratic bulwark of which the party was wont to boast.

Some of the Republican papers are already booming Bradley for vice-president on the presidential ticket with McKinley in 1896. We are for Kentucky first and last, and therefore think that the ticket should be Bradley and McKinley.

For the part that Hardin and Blackburn played in bringing defeat to the Democratic party they should be forever relegated to the shades of oblivion.

Now that the Republican party are to control the affairs of this commonwealth for four years next succeeding the first Monday in January 1896, let us hope that it may inaugurate that system of economic government and reform so often promised in the past provided they gained the power.

With the election of Mr. Bradley to the governorship Garrard county has the distinction of being the banner county in the state for gubernatorial timber. The first was Robert P. Letcher, who defeated Judge Richard French by 15,720 in 1840. Then Judge William Owsley, who defeated Gen. W. O. Butler in 1844 by 4,024, and lastly William O. Bradley, the Republican governor-elect, whose majority over Hardin is about 7,000.

WESTERN HOSPITALITY.

What a Roasting Ear Is, and How It Is Made.

When the Union Pacific and Gulf passenger officials were arranging their last "Around the Horn" excursion of the season a few weeks ago the people of Loveland asked that an extra stop be arranged for the train at their town. It is the custom in these excursions to make stops at several towns en route, generally of thirty minutes each. Loveland wanted an hour and a half this time, and promised to take care of the excursionists every one of the ninety minutes they would be in town.

The last "Around the Horn" excursion went out, and it was decided because of the contemplated treat at Loveland, it was a tremendous one. The train was scheduled to leave the Union depot at 8:45, but at that time and for fifteen minutes later the ticket clerks at the depot office were selling tickets so fast their date punches rattled away like typewriters. It was after nine o'clock before the crowd could be ticketed, and away went the train for the excursion.

At one o'clock Loveland was reached. It was about eleven o'clock that the people on the train began scenting roasting ears. All sorts of extravagant ideas were contemplated as to what would be in store when the train reached Loveland. Extraneous as they were, none of them were correct of realization. The people of that town had gone to no end of trouble. Within a hundred yards of the depot, in the shade of long rows of cotton wood trees, tables had been constructed, and along these were arrayed great heaps of eatables. Apples there were in abundance, besides other fruits, there seemed to be no limit to the sandwiches, and clearly the professional carver, whose proud boast it is that he can cover an acre of ground with a ham, had no part or parcel in preparing those sandwiches. Coffee had been procured, and here the train started, and coffee there was, but never a word had been said about lemonade, fresh milk, and buttermilk as is buttermilk, yet there were tubs and whole dairy wagon loads of all of them.

Then there was the corn pit. Everybody knows what roasting ears are, or at least think they do. Once there was a little girl who, as she regarded a half score of peas in a shell, said with sincerity when the cans and bright green labels would grow on them. She was about as near the exact count of things as some of those six hundred and fifty Denver people concerning roasting ears. The popular idea of a roasting ear of corn is one boiled. Nothing of the sort. A roasting ear is a roasting ear, as anybody about Loveland can tell, and there are men there who know how to roast them quite as well as a Missourian knows how to barbecue a side of beef.

The Loveland train was all roasted in a pit. A deep pit was dug and lined. Into this were thrown ears of young corn, encased in the husk. When enough had been put in the pit, and the impression of the liberal folks at Loveland was that the Denver man was good for a dozen ears or more, cool ashes were put over the whole, then warmer ashes, until there was a regular fire burning on top. By keeping this fire going, the ears were roasted, and by the time the excursion train was to reach the place the bottom ears were done to turn.

It was worth going to Loveland to see the pit and the way the ears were handled. It was the sight of a lifetime to see an able-bodied man get into the pit with a four-tine pitchfork and begin hoisting the roasted ears. Attendees stood near with buckets to receive the corn, and those distributed to the excursionists. Each ear had its quota of wood ashes on it, but by the exercise of a little care the husks were removed and the fish brown kernels brought to light.

There are several ways of eating roasting ears, most of which, however, are to grasp hold of either end of the ear and set the incisors to work. There are other ways, but the excursionists voted this was the proper one, and for fifteen minutes over the allotted time in town they regaled themselves on the bounteous treat the Lovelanders had provided. —Denver Republican.

"Dead broke on English." There was a great crowd at the ball grounds, and Harry Stevens was coining cash out of score cards. Harry is not only exceedingly active in a business sense, but he has a winning tongue and an adroit way of handling a misadventured English. When a big man leaned over and thrust a nickel under Harry's nose and said, "Say, ain't my money no good?" the Pittsburgher merely observed that it probably was, if there was enough of it, and went on serving other customers.

"Maybe you think I ain't got no money," growled the man.

"I think, sir," retorted Harry in his smoothest, "that if the size of your pile is to be measured by your knowledge of the English language you must be dead broke." —N. Y. Herald.

THE REPUBLICAN PROGRAMME.

Behemoths of the Protectionists for Raising the Revenue.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune is authority for the announcement that the republican leaders in congress have agreed upon their financial programme for the coming session of congress. "The idea of more revenue through a revenue tariff on wool, with the Allison notes for emergencies, will be the republican financial scheme," says this correspondent.

Whether he has learned this directly from the republicans or by making a survey of the situation on his own account, very likely he is right. The republican leaders may not have come to a distinct understanding yet, but logically they cannot vote to increase the revenue without at the same time voting to protect somebody. Just now the wool growers are the most clamorous of all the late republican protectionists, and naturally their demands will be the most considered. Other producers of raw materials, such as coal and iron ore, are still protected to some extent, and there will be a certain degree of probability in the claim that the farmers who grow wool are as much entitled to protection as the capitalists who are concerned in the production of other raw materials.

But the republicans cannot vote to increase the duties on wool without at the same time voting to increase the duties on woolen goods. The woolen manufacturers must have more protection if the price of their raw material is to be increased by protective duties. The republicans always have legislated upon this principle, and they always must adhere to it, not only for the sake of consistency, but also in order to retain the support of their most valuable allies, the manufacturers.

When they increase the duties on manufactures of wool in order to compensate for the duties imposed on the raw material they will admit that the effect of a duty, or, at least, the intended effect, is to raise the price of the article. If the price of wool is to be raised, it is to be raised by a duty on wool. They must, then, admit that an increase in the duties on woolen goods is intended to increase the price of those goods. Otherwise raising those duties would not compensate at all for the duties laid on wool. Are the republicans prepared to admit that they wish to increase the price of all woolen goods? What do they think consumers will have to say to that? They must make the admission, and the democrats are willing that they should.

As for the "Allison notes," it will be necessary to consider the revenue of some kind if the government needs thirty million dollars more revenue, as the republicans claim, and if no more revenue is to be provided except from wool. No notes which the republicans will dare propose on wool and woolens would provide more than half that sum.

It is estimated that this republican programme has been agreed upon on the assumption that the administration will not take the responsibility of recommending any plan for raising more revenue. "The administration," we are told, "would like the revenue without the responsibility." If the republican programme is wholly contingent upon this assumption we may rest assured that it will never be entered upon. President Cleveland has never yet hesitated to recommend any measure that he deemed necessary or of great importance and there is no reason to think that he is going to show the politician's caution at this late day. If he thinks there is a real need for more revenue he will not hesitate to say so or to let congress know that what he wants is revenue and enough of it, and that the conclusion of the Ohio shepherds or anybody else, —Chicago Chronicle.

SADDENED BY PROSPERITY.

Republicans Distressed by Improved Business Conditions.

The improvement in the finances of the country and in the general condition of business has disclosed the existence of a painful state of mind among the editors of certain republican papers. The announcement that the receipts of the treasury for the month will exceed the disbursements causes them deep distress. The estimate that the conclusion of deficit of the past two years will hereafter be replaced by a steadily increasing surplus is received by them with every indication of genuine sorrow. They try not to believe it.

They even go so far as to argue that it must be a mistake. They accuse the treasury department of withholding payments, of starving the government service of cash, of juggling with the transaction of public business, of seeking to force a balance for the purpose of influencing the elections.

What kind of Americans are these whose hearts are saddened at the evidences of their country's prosperity? What kind of patriotism is it which carries partisanship to such an extreme? Above all, where is the intelligence in acting the part of a wretched howler in a country in which prosperity is inevitable? —N. Y. World.

Mr. Harrison wishes it distinctly understood that while he is not and will not be a candidate for the presidency, he must not be understood as recommending either McKinley or Bror Reed. —N. Y. Journal.

NOT SO RUINOUS.

Fallacious Predictions of Republicans Regarding the Iron Trade.

The prediction of the ruin of our industries that was to follow the passage of the Wilson bill are still fresh in the minds of the people. Even those who shun have not forgotten them, though they are praying for some "sweet oblivious antidote" that will remove them from the memory of others. The iron trade has long been regarded as a sort of barometer indicating the state of general business. It furnishes the implements of production to such an extent that it must be virtually affected by almost any increase or decrease of activity in productive industries. The statistics of the business are carefully collected and published, the iron Age being a leading authority.

On March 1, 1892, the iron Age reported the weekly production of American furnaces to be 193,092 tons of iron. This was the largest production ever attained up to that date. It was high-water mark under the McKinley bill or any previous tariff bill. It was never equaled in any subsequent week before the repeal of the McKinley tariff.

On August 1, 1894, the beginning of the last month of the life of the "bill of abomination," the weekly production of the furnaces was 115,113 tons. On August 28 the new tariff bill became law. On September 1, 1894, the weekly capacity of the furnaces had risen to 151,113 tons. A year later, on September 1, 1895, the weekly output had risen to 194,092 tons.

This is not a large increase over the greatest previous production, but it is an increase. It is a new high-water mark, established under a tariff law which, however important for the standpoint of tariff reform, was condemned everywhere in protection circles as a free trade measure and as certain to ruin our industries. Against these recedent and unfulfilled predictions, which we denounced at the time they were made, we have the satisfaction of setting the testimony of a protection author that the "barometer of trade" now indicates a higher figure than it ever did before. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

WHEAT EXPORTS.

Improving Conditions Under the Wilson Tariff.

A high tariff contemporary claims that Europe bought more "high priced" wheat from us under the McKinley law than low-priced wheat under the Wilson law.

Yes, it did in 1892 because of crop shortages that year and the year before in Europe. Crop damages were so great that some of the European countries suspended their duties on grain and otherwise favored by legislation the import of American wheat. But McKinley's bill didn't help our farmers after that. Not only did our wheat exports fall in 1893, but in 1894, 1895 and 1896, but the price per bushel fell twenty per cent.

Instead of recovering the lost ground in the next year of McKinley's, wheat continued to go in price. Not until the Wilson bill had taken effect was any improvement perceptible. The average export price of No. 2 red wheat has been higher this year than at any time since Europe's crop shortage in 1892. The average for the year has also been higher than during the corresponding period of last year under the McKinley bill.

When we compare quantities we find that up to the last of August about two million three hundred thousand bushels more were exported than during the corresponding period of last year. Our crop shortage of last year in winter wheat cut down exports considerably until the spring when crop was harvested, but since the middle of September they have exceeded last year's exports. We are about now of 1894 and are likely to make gains every week for several months over the year 1893 as well as last year. Wheat is higher now than it was a year ago and as high as it was in 1890 or 1891.

There is this difference, however. While the tendency of the market two years ago was downward it is now upward. —St. Louis Republic.

A LONG ISLAND WORK OF ART.

Curious Retic of Early Farming Days Exhibited in a Sleepy Old Village.

In one of the sleepy old villages on the South Shore, whose first settlers came on the days when the town of New Amsterdam was under the rule of William the Testy, in a quaint old house, on the main street, was seen the other day a curious, crated wooden, in a frame that was once gaily, and hung in an inconspicuous portion of the parlor, as if a thing too sacred for the prying eyes of the iconoclastic modern boarder.

It was rudely executed, but it told an interesting story. The picture was labelled, "The Farm Residence of Mr. John Blank," and in all probability that gentleman had, years ago, a number of copies made to send to his friends and relatives. His picture and that of his wife, set in small miniature, adorned the upper part of the wall, and the lower part of the frame was reached from ear to ear, and on each side of the lower part of the frame, a sliver of wood, a sliver of wood, stuck stiffly out at an acute angle. His hair was brushed in rolls on the top of his head, and his mouth was a thin straight line, like a slit in a blanket. Firm and straight, and her hair was of a design popular in the fashion-plates of the first half of the century.

Below them was a view of the house, with several fine barns in the foreground. In front of these stretched a bit of hayfield and pasture—in one hayricks and in the other cattle in plenty. Many people were driving about the road, and several were pointing admiringly from their goggles at the cows, the barns, the house and the orchard.

Careful inquiry developed the fact that many years ago, when the disciples of Daguerre were few and their foggy pictures costly, "artists" used to travel about the country, making pictures of farms and their owners for a few dollars, and then sending them a number of copies and sending to the farmer a sufficient quantity for him to demonstrate to his friends and relatives who had gone "out west" that there were still prosperous people and fertile lands in the east. —N. # germ-life

The doctors tell us, now-a-days, that disease germs are everywhere; in the air, in the water, in our food, clothes, money; that they get into our bodies, live there, thrive and grow; if they find anything to thrive on.

Consumption is the destruction of lung-tissue by germs where the lung is too weak to conquer them. The remedy is strength—vital force.

Scott's Emulsion, with hypophosphites, means the adjustment of lung strength to overcome germ-life. It is fighting the germ with the odds in our favor. These tiny little drops of fat-food make their way into the system and re-fresh and re-invigorate it. PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL

—W. K. Stratton, the Indiana carpenter who went to Cripple Creek and now fast becoming a millionaire, has been in the trenches, and in the greatest destitution is said to have offered Senator Walcott a half interest in his mine for three hundred dollars. Stratton is as plain and demure as a Quaker, but he was before he "struck it rich."

—To the last," says London Figaro, the duke of Cambridge clung to the belief that he would be continued in his position as regent, and he was not understood that when he received the news from Homburg of his definite suppression by King Friedrich he was deeply chagrined. His friends do not believe that he will be enforced retirement will hasten the end.

—Prof. Heim, a Swiss savant at the Alpine club in Zurich, declares that the most convenient, elegant and comfortable way of reaching the Alps is that which follows a fall from some high Alpine height. There is neither physical nor moral suffering, in Prof. Heim's opinion, in descending the Alps through space, only a "delicious taste of the celestial beauties."

—One of the notorieties of Paris is a magnet, who was official coadjutor of the Emperor, and his wife, the Empress. After the latter's downfall, the magnet became driver of the hearse or the great burial company of Paris. He recently officiated in that capacity at the funeral of a noted politician who only presided at the funerals of Thiers, Victor Hugo and Gambetta.

—Lord Verulam, who died recently at eighty-six, was the last survivor of a family that ruled in England for centuries, which met in 1835, seventy years to a day before the earl's death. The Winchester captain was Christopher Wordsworth, afterward bishop of Lincoln, at a rural settlement where Charles Wordsworth, later bishop of St. Andrews, and on his eleven was cardinal Manning, who was caught by the bishop of Lincoln for a loose egg.

—The bogley has not yet penetrated to Lincoln county, Wash., but when it does the malice of that region will be as great as that of the East, because some of the girls in the east who are publicly priding themselves on their stamina and vigor to sing more softly of their achievements. One girl who at a rural settlement there wanted badly to attend the Fourth of July ball, held at the town of Newport, forty-six miles away, but could not be spared for more than the one day. Her friends, however, and she rode on horseback the forty-six miles to the ball on the afternoon of the Fourth, danced all through the night at a rural settlement, and rode forty-six miles home, arriving here in good season on the 5th.

—Anxious Inquirer (to crusty old headman)—"When do you suppose this rain is going to stop?" Crusty Old headman—"When it gets to the ground, of course."—South Boston News.

—I wonder," said Tommy, who had been reading the poem about the Arab who refused a purse of gold for his life. "I wonder what he would have said if they had offered to trade in a horse for his life?"—"Great Scott," said Mrs. McSwat.—"Great Scott, what a reason to your spending so much time at that club of yours, Billinger, is that I am sure it is nothing but a resort of fools."—"What a reason, Mrs. McSwat! What's any club?"—Chicago Tribune.

—"The meanest man I know of," he said, reflectively, "is in politics. He is a meaner man than any other. What did he do?" asked the listener. "He fought votes on credit, and after the delivery of the goods repudiated the obligation."—"What's that?" asked the listener. —"Give me a ticket to Hephzibah," a Jewish English gentleman is reported to have said to one of the busy clerks at the union station, St. Louis. The clerk looked puzzled for a moment, and then said, "Are you sure you want a ticket to Hephzibah? I don't know of any such place on our line." Awe-struck, doubtful and a little angry, the Jew went to Hesteria, and he said I want to go to Hephzibah and Niagara Falls." "We could send you to any place of Buffalo," said the impatient clerk. "I don't know of any place called that," the cussed place, "I know it. I want some kind of a blessed place. Give me a ticket to Buffalo, not to Hephzibah." St. Louis Register.

What Will the Harvest Be?

Abroad in this glorious land of ours, where nature with lavish hand has filled to overflowing the cup of plenty, and where the bounteous gifts of a merciful Creator have blessed and comforted the hearts of his people, where no dread contagion rages and where no thunder cloud of war breaks upon the hallowed security that they enjoy, there comes from the stillness this cry that penetrates the heart of every parent, and ascends in piteous supplication to the throne of the Most High, "What shall the end be?"

There is in our midst an evil which, like a fearful Hercules lion, is going forth devouring the virtues and destroying the graces that our country once possessed. It is blighting the hopes of our youths, crushing the vitals of manhood and dragging to destruction the morality and honor of those we love. Daily and hourly fall the horrid oaths and terrible imprecations from the polluted lips of those we once thought that Satan with his blasphemous could not lead astray. No longer does father's words of warning or mother's tearful remonstrance, or even a sister's beseeching prayer have any influence, for glowering in that crystal fire are attractions too great for demoralized nature to resist, and on, yet on, plunging still deeper into the slough of degradation, go our young men, upon whom the hope of our country must depend. Boys scarcely in their teens, young men just entering the arena of manhood, old men with families to rear and train, all going in a mad whirl to one common destiny, hell. What can we hope to be, what shall our country be, and what do we deserve to be? If we allow this state of affairs to continue. Oh, the thought for consideration is this, will God permit in his mercies when they are so abused? the gifts so bountifully bestowed upon us are being converted into weapons to defame and destroy us.

Young men, the idols of doing parents, the organs whose functions are long will wield the reins of government, when will you stop? How long in this mad career of intemperance and immorality will you continue?

Do you realize the awful consequences of such a course, or has conscience ceased its warning?

Is there not one among the many that frequent the place where gleams the chair of State's fountain, brave enough to renounce the bonds that have enthralled him and with a determination that brooks no defeat, stand as an advocate for the cause of temperance and Christianity, for the spectre that is waiting abroad with extended arms, sowing seeds of misery and wretchedness, and contaminating everything in its course, will reap for its harvest ere long the jewels that God has entrusted to our care. Appalling and heart-rending are the cries issuing from devoted, yet breaking hearts, while witnessing the sure destruction of the loved ones who, held by the irresistible power of this great evil, go blindly and indifferently to their doom. The cords of enchantment are growing stronger, the delusion more sure and the infatuation of sin with its gilded attractions is weaving a net around them from which no escape can be effected. Thus realizing that the seeds of all manner of vice are being sown and inoculated into the very vitals of life, we with one accord exclaim, "What shall the harvest be?"

MRS. ALICE AMY.

Ever since I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Kerley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago today I commenced using your preparation, and today I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I cordially urge your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it. Yours very truly, C. W. HORRICK.

Ever since I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Kerley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago today I commenced using your preparation, and today I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. ### What Will the Harvest Be?

Abroad in this glorious land of ours, where nature with lavish hand has filled to overflowing the cup of plenty, and where the bounteous gifts of a merciful Creator have blessed and comforted the hearts of his people, where no dread contagion rages and where no thunder cloud of war breaks upon the hallowed security that they enjoy, there comes from the silliness this cry that penetrates the heart of every parent, and ascends in piteous supplication to the throne of the Most High, "What shall the end be?"

There is in our midst an evil which, like a fearful Hercules lion, is going forth devouring the virtues and destroying the grace that our country once possessed. It is blighting the hopes of our youth, crushing the vitals of manhood and dragging to destruction the morality and honor of those we love. Daily and hourly fall the horrid oaths and terrible imprecations from the polluted lips of those we once thought that Satan with his banishments could not lead astray. No longer does father's word of warning or mother's fearful remonstrance, or even a sister's beseeching prayer have any influence, for gleaming in that crystal fire are attractions too great for demoralized nature to resist, and on, yet on, plunging still deeper into the slough of degradation, go our young men, upon whom the hope of our country must depend. Boys scarcely in their teens, young men just entering the arena of manhood, old men with families to rear and train, all going in a mad whirl to one common destiny, hell. What can we hope to be, what shall our country be, and what do we deserve to be if we allow this state of affairs to continue. Oh, the thought for consideration is this, will God persist in his mercies when they are so abused? the gifts so bountifully bestowed upon us are being converted into weapons to defend and destroy us.

Young men, the idols of dancing parents, the organs whose functions are long will wield the reins of government, when will you stop? How long in this mad career of intemperance and immorality will you continue?

Do you realize the awful consequences of such a course, or has conscience ceased its warning?

Is there not one among the many that frequent the place where gleams the elixir of Satan's fountain, brave enough to renounce the bonds that have enthralled him and with a determination that brooks no defeat, stand as an advocate for the cause of temperance and Christianity, for the spectre that is walking abroad with extended arms, sowing seeds of misery and wretchedness, and contaminating everything in its course, will reap for its harvest ere long the jewels that God has entrusted to our care. Appalling and heart-rending are the cries issuing from devoted, yet breaking hearts, while witnessing the sure destruction of the loved ones who, held by the irresistible power of this great evil, go blindly and indifferently to their doom. The cords of enchantment are growing stronger, the delusion more sure and the infatuation of sin with its gilded attractions is weaving a net around them from which no escape can be effected. Thus realizing that the seeds of all manner of vice are being sown and incubated into the very vitals of life, we with one accord exclaim, "What shall the harvest be?"

MRS. ALICE AMYX.
